SAMSUNG SELECTS 6WIND SOFTWARE TO DEVELOP MOBILE IP APPLICATIONS

Paris & Beijing, May 10, 2006 – 6WIND (www.6wind.com), leader in embedded networking software, announced its selection by Samsung Electronics Co., Ltd. to provide a 6WINDGate™ software license with state-of-the-art mobile IP features for the latter's research and development on a new generation of mobile broadband applications. 6WINDGate™ software is to enable end-users to stay connected on the Internet with their mobile devices, should customers wish, as they move from one type of wireless infrastructure to the next, for example, between WiFi and WiMAX.

"With 6WIND's software technology which incorporates advanced mobile IP features, Samsung will be able to speed up its research and development capacities for ubiquitous and converging mobile solutions," said Changsup Shim, Senior Vice President & General Manager of Systems R&D Team at Samsung Electronics.

"We thank Samsung for having continued confidence in 6WIND. They can be certain of our reinforced value-add in the mobile IP domain. Through our networking-ready software and expertise, we are committed to helping Samsung accelerate their go-to-market process and reinforce their economies of scale to offer worldwide operators competitive and high-performing wireless solutions," said Alain Dasté, Chairman and CEO of 6WIND.
